NO FINANCIAL compensation should be given for Community Service.

It should be understood that students providing community service to area employers would not be considered an employee; therefore they would not be covered by workers compensation if injured. Parents should understand that if a student is injured this should be submitted to their Health Insurance Company.

It is our opinion that most employers in the area would protect any volunteer help from certain negligent acts under the Employers General Liability policy as an additional insured. We recommend that any questions you may have concerning this issue be addressed to the employer.
